

a designer toy company run by monstrous stuffed animals. we are here to provide humans the best stuffed friend they could ever hope existed.

Tyler Boncho Toys™

about Kaeti Lindquist

Kaeti, the Chief Monster Maker, is a human with a lifelong love of stuffed animals, creating imaginary worlds, and making up lives for the her toys. Her interests were easily turned into a toy design company by Tyler Poncho. Over the past three years, Kaeti and Tyler have imagined and developed the characters of Tyler Poncho Toys, creating two unique brands of plush toys with coloring books and storybooks to accompany them.

about Tyler Poncho

Tyler was originally born on Peacock City Planet. A few years ago, he teleported into Kaeti's head and gave her instructions on how to recreate his body and bring his visionary toy business to life. In his true birth, he was cut by turtles, sewn by birds, and stuffed by bunnies to form the true sentient being of Tyler Poncho as he exists on Peacock City Planet. Creating Tyler was the inspiration for Tyler Poncho Toys. He became Kaeti's boss, and her muse.

about our company

We believe that silliness and imagination should be a part of life. We provide two series of original characters and stories. Journey into the imagination of Tyler Poncho and discover a new place to play. Our safe, american made soft toys will come to life in your hands and minds.

In our company, the whimsical stuffed animals are in charge. The softly stuffed staff follow the direction and supervision of our Chief Fluff Brains, Tyler Poncho. Often, our toys are made purely for Tyler's daily meals. Somehow we do manage to get the toys out to our customers, despite Tyler's voracious appetite.

amalgamated menagerie includes:

Tyler Poncho, Joseph Petticoat, Gruffy McBearguin, Chilly Lomedome, Telescoping Tiger, See-Otter, Bobby Snake, Robert Peamingo.

stuffed animal world includes:

the AMALGAMATED MENAGERIE series

This series of toys is based around our Chief Fluff Brains, Tyler Poncho, his life and adventures. Many of our toys live in Tyler's imagined world, which can be a bit scary at times. Tyler journeys through the world at night while Kaeti sleeps, and then telepathically communicates his tales for her to write into stories about his stuffed friends.

Tyler Poncho's Amalgamated Menagerie, Volume One. Introducing the whimsical world of Peacock City Planet! It's Tyler's home planet and the habitation of many other species of Tyler Poncho Toys. Join Tyler Poncho and his new friends on an adventure to find a new home!

Tyler Poncho's Amalgamated Menagerie, Volume Two. Now on our second adventure with Tyler Poncho, he's already collected a gaggle of new friends to help him on his quest for a new home. Tyler and Joseph are fast becoming BFF's but who else will join them on their journey to Peacock City?

JOSEPH PETTICOAT

A rather haphazardly awkward flamingo from a beautiful blue desert. He is Tyler Poncho's best friend. His species is responsible for painting the sky everyday, changing the colors and creating alluring sunsets for all to behold. They keep their feathers well groomed and trimmed with their peachy green bone-combs. Walking stately through the desert hills, their webbed feet softly shifting the sand, they bend their knees in an off-rhythm march, curving their necks to create letter shapes across the sky. In Tyler's land, the sky is made of flamingos.

Tyler Poncho's amalgamated menagerie

The extreme cold of the antarctic caused a genetic mutation amongst the penguin population, and Gruffy was born. At least he has the best mustache on the continent. He can be a bit cantakerous when things get stuck in his beard, (which is often), but his sporadic ailment of fire-bearding usually cleanses it real good. In Volume Two, Gruffy had found employment at a small bakery, but his sentient beard could not keep itself out of the batter. This stress often bursts his beard into flame, upsetting the manager who inevitably fired Gruffy himself. Being highly bearded and unemployed, Gruffy joined Tyler's menagerie as they meandered on to Peacock City.

CHILLY LOMEDOME

Tyler Poncho's amalgamated menagerie

Chilly Lomedome is a mountain dwelling mammal who makes flowers appear where he steps. Tyler meets a tribe of Lomedomes in his Amalgamated Menagerie. They offer him a home, although not the most comfortable one. They lived together under the sea, receiving gifts in the mail, and even though Tyler's adventures couldn't let him stay long, Tyler and the Chillies will remain allies.

TELESCOPING TIGERS

Tyler Poncho's amalgamated menagerie

The Telescoping Tigers are a proud and frightening species which King Poncho can barely control. Their ears telescope in and out, extending so they can eavesdrop on people from far away. They can knit the most intricate things with their dexterous ears! The villains of Tyler's world, Tyler stumbles upon Joseph Petticoat's plan to divert the Tiger's evil plot, but they have not yet found success.

Tyler Poncho's amalgamated menagerie

A very bureaucratic species, they try to control all travelers through their land with their triangle security leaves. The See-Otters are near blind and must wear eyeglass contraptions that have many functionalities and adjustments that are obscure to all who observe. Tyler meets these unfortunate creatures in Volume One, thoroughly upsetting all their triangles and not filing his papers correctly.

BOBBY SNAKE

In Volume Two, Tyler hears a slow, subtle sound of a softly slithering of a sneaky snake, Bobby Snake. He lives in a swampy, mushy marsh and desires to leave it forever, so he tries to escape on the backs of visitors. He can't slither so fast through the bog, making him the perfect prey for the flying chickens who always try to drown him. He's managed to escape them and their foul eggs so far.

The Peamingos are a very spiritual cousin of the Petticoats. They reside in a beautiful temple city filled with murals of the glorious monks of the past. Robert Peamingo is a telepathic descendent of his holy apparition Pterodactyl, the most godly being worshipped by Peamingos and Petticoats alike. It is said that he created Peacock City Planet and promised never to return as he had many more worlds to create. Robert joins Tyler's menagerie as a guide of sorts, since he is intrigued by the Ponchovian kind.

Koeli Undquist

It's a big little stuffed animal that's easy to make. You can use any fabric you like, but I used a soft, fuzzy fabric. I used a soft, fuzzy fabric. I used a soft, fuzzy fabric.

TIPS

- Cut a little extra for the eyes. It'll make it easier to sew.
- Use a small needle, as it's easier to sew. It's a little bit of a trick.

the STUFFED ANIMAL WORLD series

Stuffed Animal World is an imaginary place Kaeti created as a child. The characters are based on her toys, her friends' toys, and her mischievous brother's antics. Stuffed Animal World lives above the clouds. It is a magical place ruled by King Ted and filled with fun and adventure for all soft as a cloud toys.

Join King Ted, Super Ted and the Jester of Seriousness in this coloring adventure. The first coloring book from the toy inventors at Tyler Poncho Toys. Who will thwart the Jester's plans, and be triumphant? Draw and explore to find out!

How many Poncho Teds are there?

But oh! What's this, a package for King Ted?
Who could it be from...?

KING TED

King Ted is a courageous and strange bear, a leader to all, the king of teddy bear kings. His silliness brings a levity to their land that the evil monster of seriousness threatens to destroy.
